

INT. COUNSELING CHAMBER - DAY

The VOCAL COACH is seated and observing the parent-child standing before him. A RISKY SINGER and the SINGER'S PARENT look distraught.

VOCAL COACH
So what can I do for you two?

SINGER'S PARENT
(disappointed)
My child is on a treacherous path with what they've been singing.

RISKY SINGER
(laughs)
It's not that bad.

VOCAL COACH
Oh yeah? Let's hear some.

RISKY SINGER
Certainly, absolutely
(postures to sing)
Oooh, you make me feel so good. So good. So good. Whoever knew that you would. Or that you even could__

SINGER'S PARENT
(angrily)
Enough! Enough of this!

VOCAL COACH
What's wrong? Why'd you stop them?

SINGER'S PARENT
It's too nasty, too dirty for my child to be singing like that.
(pointing a finger upward)
They should be singing to the glory of HIS kingdom (dramatically points finger down to the ground)
Not his kingdom!

VOCAL COACH
Dang, it's like that?

RISKY SINGER
I've been dealing with this all my life.
